He immediately started crying and scratching and pulling at his clothes. I immediately washed him.	Very itchy where applied.	No. Immediately and lasted for an hour or so, or until I washed it off.	None.	None.
228	2/18/2017	My son. Who was a year at the time.	Digestzen blend (contains: ginger rhizome/ root, peppermint plant, caraway seed, coriander seed, anise seed, fennel plant, and fennel seed essential oils.)	They were applied topically	they were applied undiluted	Approximately 5-10 drops	Two applications approximately 4 hours apart	doTerra	Not that I'm aware of.	Put the blend on my sons chest and back (as was recommended by health store). Within a minute he was crying uncontrollably. Where the ointment had been applied the skin was bright red and hot to the touch. You could see the finger marks from where the stuff had been applied.	I put him in the shower immediately and washed him off. The pain went away significantly once the ointment was washed off but was still tender and bright red (finger marks still visible).	A few hours later the redness and whatnot still visible. Pain was gone. By morning the skin appeared normal.	None.	None.	1/1/2015	This should absolutely never have been recommended. The health store told me it was an allergic reaction. I later found out that the cinnamon and cloves is what burned his skin... that it should never be used on children. They should have known that... I told them who the intended person was.
